È passato molto tempo, ma vale la pena ricordare, se possibile, che quando le Torri Gemelle e l'Edificio 7 del World Trade Center crollarono l'11 settembre 2001, il mondo intero guardò con orrore. Gli eventi di quel giorno vennero ripetuti in televisione più e più volte, al punto da diventare immagini residue impresse nella mente delle persone.

Di conseguenza, sebbene gli edifici non siano stati abbattuti dall'impatto di aerei (nessun aereo ha colpito l'edificio 7), ma da esplosivi piazzati al loro interno (vedere questo e questo, tra le numerose prove), la maggior parte delle persone la pensava diversamente, proprio come pensava che i successivi attacchi all'antrace fossero stati diretti da Osama bin Laden quando alla fine è stato dimostrato che avevano avuto origine da un laboratorio militare statunitense (quindi un lavoro interno) e, come risultato di una massiccia campagna di propaganda dell'amministrazione Bush e dei media aziendali, la maggior parte degli americani ha sostenuto l'invasione dell'Afghanistan, la successiva invasione dell'Iraq e decenni di guerre infinite che continuano ancora oggi, portandoci sull'orlo di una guerra nucleare con l'Iran e la Russia.

È impossibile comprendere il pieno sostegno degli Stati Uniti oggi al genocidio di Israele in Medio Oriente senza comprendere questa storia. Il genocidio di Israele è il genocidio degli Stati Uniti; non possono essere separati.

Tutte queste guerre coinvolgono le macchinazioni della cricca neo-conservatrice che nel 1997 formò il Progetto per il Nuovo Secolo Americano che gestì l'amministrazione di George W. Bush e i cui protetti sono arrivati a esercitare un grande controllo sulle politiche estere delle amministrazioni democratiche e repubblicane da allora. Non è che prima di questo non avessero potere, come conferma uno studio della politica estera americana risalente all'amministrazione di Lyndon Johnson e alla sua mancata risposta all'attacco di Israele del 1967 alla US Liberty.

Contrariamente alle affermazioni diffuse secondo cui Israele dirige la politica estera degli Stati Uniti in Medio Oriente, ritengo sia importante sottolineare che è vero il contrario.

È comodo affermare che è la coda a scodinzolare, ma è falso.

I crimini di guerra di Israele sono crimini di guerra degli Stati Uniti. Se gli Stati Uniti volessero fermare il genocidio di Israele e l'espansione della guerra in tutta la regione, potrebbero farlo immediatamente, perché Israele dipende totalmente dal sostegno degli Stati Uniti per la sua esistenza, come amano dire, "È esistenziale".

Tutte le notizie contrarie sono propaganda. È un gioco subdolo di ping-pong di responsabilità: spostare la colpa, tenere il pubblico sulle spine mentre colpisce la sua piccola palla cava avanti e indietro.

Control of the Middle East's oil supplies and travel routes has been key to American foreign policy for a very long time. Such geo-political control is linked to the United States' endless war on Russia and the control of natural resources throughout the vast region (a look at a map is requisite), stretching from the Middle East to southwest Asia up through the Black and Caspian Seas through Ukraine into Russia.

In both cases, the attacks of September 11, 2001 and Israel's genocide of Palestinians whose ultimate target is Iran (America's key enemy in the region as far back as the CIA's 1953 coup d'état against Iran's democratically elected Prime Minister Mohammad Mosaddegh), savage wars of extermination have been promoted through decades of carefully orchestrated propaganda.

In the former case, through the mainstream corporate media's magic of repetitive cinematic images, and in the latter, through their absence. To be shown photos of many thousands of dead and mutilated Palestinian children does not serve the U.S./Zionist's interests. Propaganda's methods must be flexible. Show, conceal.

The September 11th attacks and the current genocide, each in its own way, have been justified and paid for with similar but different credit cards without spending limits, the so-called wars on terror waged on the visual credit card of planes hitting buildings preceded and followed by endless pictures of Osama bin Laden, and the genocide of Palestinians on the holocaust credit card minus images of slaughtered Palestinians or any awareness of the terrorist history of the Zionist's century-long racial nationalist settler movement of "ethnically cleansing" Palestinians from their land.

To know this, one has to read books, but they have been replaced by cell phones, functional illiteracy being the norm, even for college graduates who are treated to four years of wokeness education and anti-intellectualism that reduces their thinking to mush and graduates them with sciolistic minds at best. I am being kind.

The eradication of historical knowledge and the devaluation of the written word are key to ignorance of both issues. Digital media and cell phones are the new books, all few hundred words on an issue conveying information that conveys ignorance. Guy DeBord put it succinctly: "That which the spectacle ceases to speak of for three days no longer exists." Amnesia is the norm.

To which I might add: that which the mass media spectacle continues to speak of or show images of for many days exists, even if it doesn't. It exists in the minds of virtual people for whom images and headlines create reality. The electronic media is not only addictive but hypnotically effective, producing cyber people divorced from the material world. News and information have become a form of terrorism used to implode all mental defenses, similar to the floors at the World Trade Center that went down boom, boom, boom.

The war crimes of US/Israel are readily available for viewing outside the coverage of the corporate mainstream media. Most of the world views them, but these are the unreal people, the ones who don't count as human beings. These war crimes are massive, ruthless, and committed proudly and without an ounce of shame. To face this fact is not acceptable.

Those who pretend ignorance of them are guilty of bad faith.

Those who support either Harris or Trump are guilty of bad faith twice over, acting as if either one does not support genocide or that genocide is a minor matter in the larger scheme of things.

Choosing "the lesser of two evils" is therefore an act of radical evil hiding behind the mask of civic duty.

That it is commonplace only confirms these words from the English playwright Harold Pinter's extraordinary Nobel Address in 2005:

The United States supported and in many cases engendered every right wing military dictatorship in the world after the end of the Second World War. I refer to Indonesia, Greece, Uruguay, Brazil, Paraguay, Haiti, Turkey, the Philippines, Guatemala, El Salvador, and, of course, Chile. The horror the United States inflicted upon Chile in 1973 can never be purged and can never be forgiven.

Hundreds of thousands of deaths took place throughout these countries. Did they take place? And are they in all cases attributable to US foreign policy? The answer is yes they did take place and they are attributable to American foreign policy. But you wouldn't know it.

It never happened. Nothing ever happened. Even while it was happening it wasn't happening. It didn't matter. It was of no interest. The crimes of the United States have been systematic, constant, vicious, remorseless, but very few people have actually talked about them. You have to hand it to America. It has exercised a quite clinical manipulation of power worldwide while masquerading as a force for universal good. It's a brilliant, even witty, highly successful act of hypnosis.

Little has changed since 2005, except that these crimes have increased along with the propaganda denying them, together with vastly increased censorship – Afghanistan, Iraq, Libya, Syria, Russia via Ukraine, etc. – all targets of U.S. bombs, just like Gaza, Lebanon, Yemen, etc. Now the U.S. has brought the world to the brink of nuclear war and the voting public is all worked up over choosing between candidates supporting genocide and the massively expanded Israel attack on neighboring countries. It is a frightening spectacle of moral indifference and stupidity as we await the Israel/U.S. bombing of Iran and Iran's response.

Yet I ask myself and I ask you: Is there a connection between the voting public's support for these war criminals and attention deficit disorder, amnesia, and dementia?

Or is this embrace of the demonic twins' – US/Israel – foreign policy a sign of something far worse? A death wish?

Soul death?
