Tutto ciò che abbiamo tentato di fare è fallito. Non siamo riusciti a distruggere Hamas o i palestinesi. Siamo stati impotenti nell'impedire la rivoluzione siriana. Abbiamo ucciso Nasrallah ma non siamo riusciti a distruggere Hezbollah. Di sicuro non abbiamo distrutto gli Houthi. Abbiamo perso. Ori Goldberg

Da un lato, l'accordo di cessate il fuoco sembra essere il peggior affare che Hamas avrebbe potuto fare. Ma dall'altro, l'accordo aiuta a dimostrare che, dopo 16 mesi di massacri e distruzioni incessanti, Israele non è riuscito a raggiungere nessuno dei suoi obiettivi strategici né ha smorzato gli spiriti degli indomabili palestinesi. Oltre a ciò, Israele si è smascherato come un regime canaglia completamente immorale, senza traccia di umanità. Ecco come Abdal Jawad Omar lo ha riassunto su Mondoweiss :

La guerra ha messo a nudo... la supremazia razziale di Israele, la sua mostruosa capacità di distruzione e la sua rete profondamente intricata di investimenti ideologici, psichici e politici nella cancellazione e nel dominio. Questo non è semplicemente un conflitto di armi, ma una rivelazione delle strutture che sostengono e perpetuano il meccanismo della violenza. La guerra ha esposto l'eccezionalismo che circonda Israele, non solo nel garantire l'impunità allo Stato, non solo nel mettere a tacere e reprimere il dissenso in Europa e Nord America, non solo all'interno di istituzioni accademiche o media tradizionali, ma nella sua sfacciata capacità di commettere crimini in diretta radiofonica. Per i palestinesi, questa capacità è vista attraverso una lente amara: è vista come una forza israeliana. Dopo tutto, Israele è presentato come uno stato che può farla franca con qualsiasi cosa, una realtà oppressiva quanto la violenza stessa. Eppure, è anche questo stesso eccezionalismo, questo limite imposto al discorso, che richiama l'attenzione sullo smascheramento di Israele come stato suprematista ebraico e colonialista. Il cessate il fuoco di Gaza rivela la fragilità di Israele e il potere trasformativo della resistenza, Mondoweiss

Tuttavia, nonostante l'immagine pubblica di Israele sia stata per sempre offuscata, l'accordo attuale non promette nulla di buono neanche per i palestinesi. Innanzitutto, non c'è alcun incentivo per Israele a implementare tutte e tre le fasi dell'accordo. Una volta restituiti i 33 ostaggi israeliani, Netanyahu può semplicemente rescindere l'accordo e riprendere l'assalto. Che è esattamente ciò che i suoi sostenitori si aspettano che faccia. Date un'occhiata a questa clip dal quotidiano israeliano Haaretz:

But a different version of the deal appears in statements and briefings published by Netanyahu's office and his media loyalists. In this version, phase 2 of the deal is a dead letter, and Israel is hell-bent on renewing the war after the completion of phase 1, even at the cost of sacrificing its male hostages.

Don't take my word for it – trust Netanyahu's own aides and confidantes – like his chief of staff, Yossi Fuchs, who wrote on Wednesday that the deal "includes the option to resume the fighting at the end of phase 1 if the negotiations over phase 2 don't develop in a manner that promises the fulfillment of the war's goals: military and civil annihilation of Hamas and a release of all hostages."

Ecco un altro intervento sullo stesso argomento da parte del consigliere per la sicurezza nazionale di Trump, Mike Waltz:

"Siamo stati chiari, Gaza deve essere completamente smilitarizzata, Hamas deve essere distrutta al punto che non può ricostituirsi, e che Israele ha tutto il diritto di proteggersi completamente. Tutti questi obiettivi sono ancora molto in atto... Hamas non può avere un ruolo nel governo di Gaza. Questi sono sequestratori, assassini, torturatori che non dovrebbero mai avere alcun ruolo nel governo... Non otterremo mai un futuro migliore finché non estirperemo questo cancro." @mtracey :26 secondi

Ed ecco come l'ultra-sionista Ben Shapiro lo ha spiegato su X:

Note sull'accordo sugli ostaggi:

1. Si tratta di un accordo di ostaggi, NON di un accordo di fine guerra. La fase I consente il rilascio di 33 ostaggi; non è chiaro quanti siano ancora vivi, ma alcuni resoconti suggeriscono 23.

2. Di nuovo, il cessate il fuoco è quasi certamente temporaneo. Non è una fine permanente della guerra. La fase II è, a mio parere, altamente improbabile che si materializzi mai, dato il numero di ostaggi che Hamas trattiene e dato che Hamas non disarmerà mai né accetterà l'esilio.

3. L'accordo non obbliga Israele a modificare la distribuzione lungo il corridoio di Filadelfia (confine tra Gaza ed Egitto).

Cosa significa tutto questo?

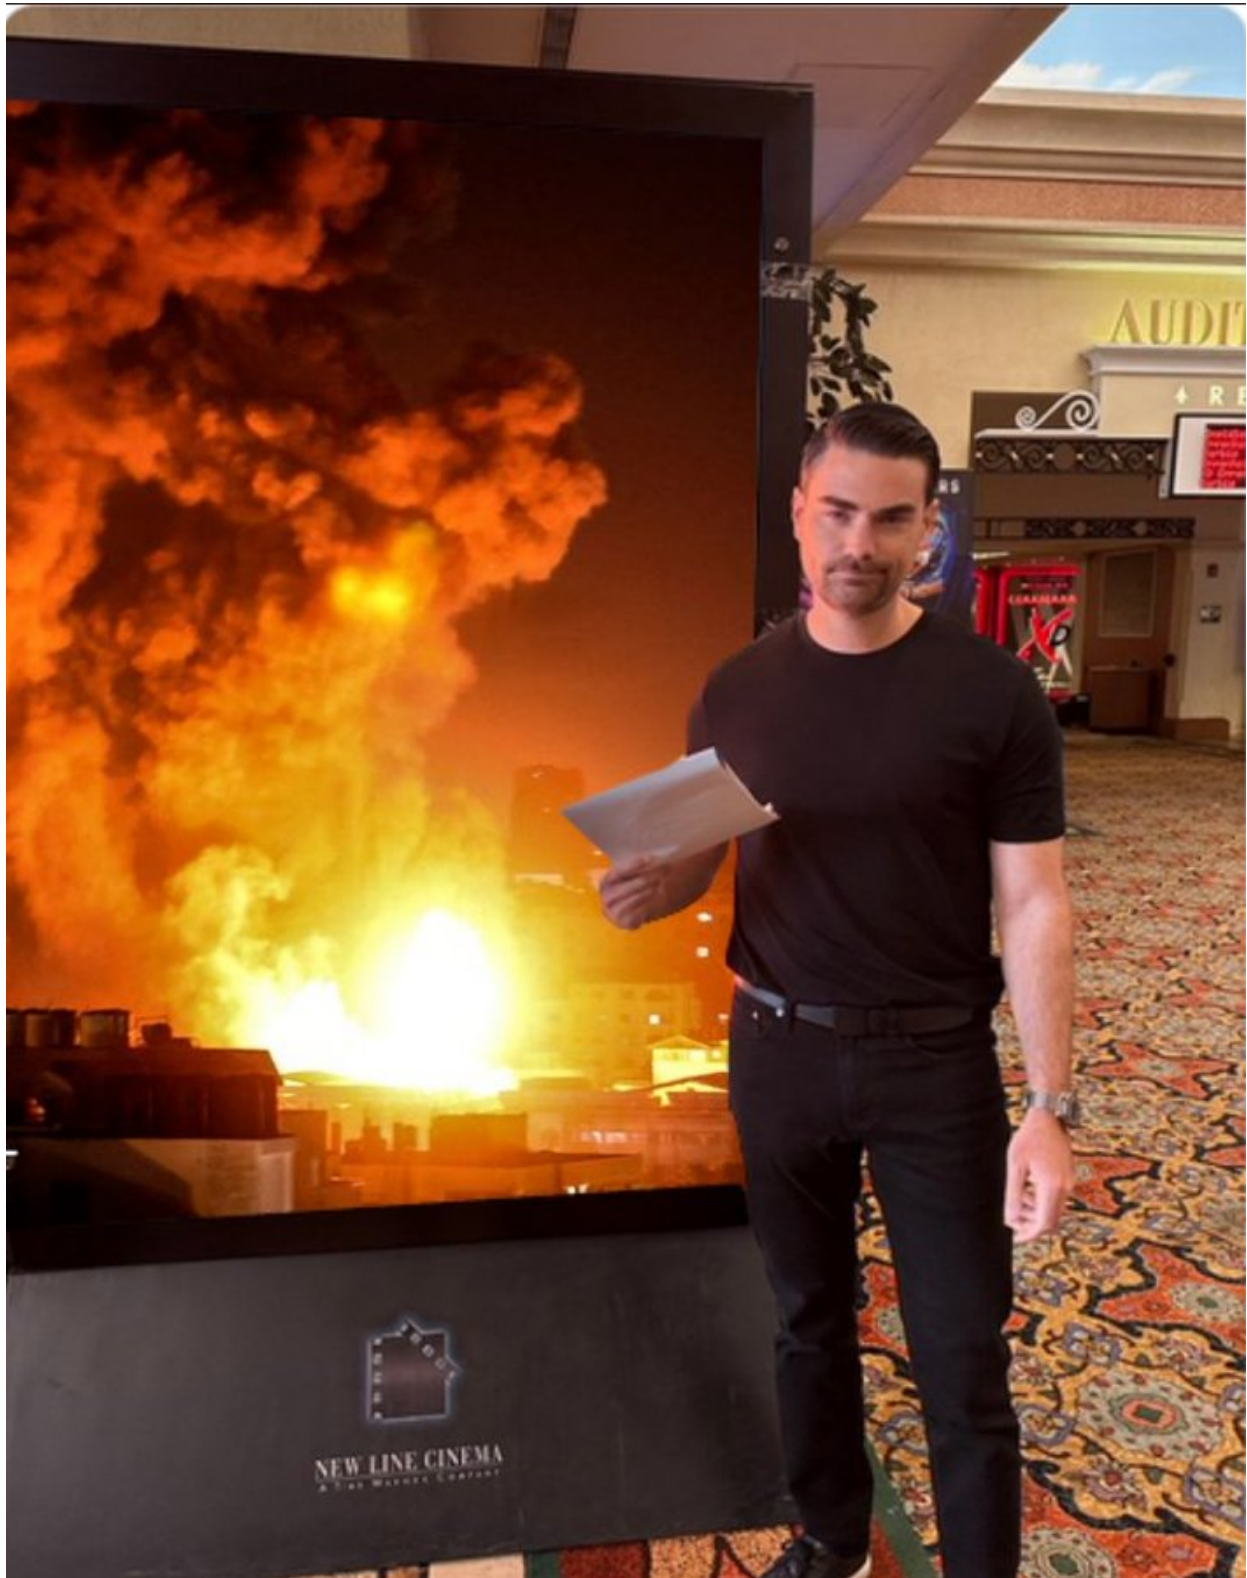

Primo, che alcuni ostaggi torneranno a casa vivi. Questo è un bene assoluto.

Sarebbe stato ottimo far uscire più ostaggi, ma questa opzione presumibilmente non era disponibile, data l'intransigenza radicale di Hamas e il peggioramento delle condizioni di salute di molti degli ostaggi.

In secondo luogo, che la guerra continuerà finché Hamas non avrà più controllo su Gaza. I candidati di Trump lo hanno detto; così come il governo israeliano.

Il team di Trump ha fatto quadrare il cerchio. Il team di Biden voleva senza dubbio una fine definitiva del conflitto come condizione per il rilascio degli ostaggi.

Il team Trump presumibilmente ha detto ad Hamas che ciò non sarebbe accaduto e che questo era il miglior accordo che avrebbero potuto ottenere. Ben Shapiro@benshapiro

Quindi, secondo Shapiro, Trump ha concesso a Netanyahu più di Biden. (Biden voleva una fine permanente del conflitto come condizione per il rilascio degli ostaggi, mentre Trump ha respinto tale richiesta.) Ciò suggerisce che Trump non utilizzerà la leva del suo ufficio per fermare la serie di omicidi di Israele che dura da un anno e mezzo. Infatti, Netanyahu lo ha ammesso in una dichiarazione pubblica rilasciata poche ore prima dell'inizio del cessate il fuoco. Ecco cosa ha detto:

Da questo terribile disastro è emersa la straordinaria forza d'animo del popolo israeliano, così come l'eroismo supremo dei nostri soldati, ed è questo che ci spinge con una determinazione feroce a raggiungere tutti gli obiettivi della guerra : restituire tutti i nostri ostaggi, eliminare la capacità di governo di Hamas e garantire che Gaza non rappresenti più una minaccia per il nostro Paese.

Non appena è stato eletto, il presidente eletto [Donald] Trump si è mobilitato per liberare gli ostaggi. Ha parlato con me mercoledì sera. Ha accolto con favore l'accordo e ha giustamente sottolineato che la prima fase dell'accordo è un cessate il fuoco temporaneo. Questo è ciò che ha detto: un "cessate il fuoco temporaneo", ha sottolineato Netanyahu, affermando che sia Trump che Biden hanno dato pieno appoggio al diritto di Israele di tornare a riprendere la guerra se Israele conclude che i negoziati della seconda fase dell'accordo sono inutili.

Apprezzo anche la decisione del Presidente Trump di revocare tutte le restrizioni rimanenti sulla fornitura di armi e munizioni essenziali allo Stato di Israele.

Perché Netanyahu vorrebbe sottolineare la natura "temporanea" del cessate il fuoco se fosse seriamente intenzionato a porre fine alle ostilità?

Non lo farebbe. Farebbe ogni sforzo per porre fine alla disputa attraverso la diplomazia e i negoziati, che è il significato letterale del termine "cessate il fuoco" : (def—una sospensione temporanea dei combattimenti, in genere durante la quale si svolgono colloqui di pace). Ma l'attuale cessate il fuoco non assomiglia per niente alla definizione del dizionario. Non sono previsti colloqui di pace né ce ne saranno, il che significa che Israele sta semplicemente usando l'accordo attuale per riavere indietro i suoi ostaggi senza rinunciare a nulla in cambio. (Il ritorno di centinaia di prigionieri palestinesi nella zona di guerra di Gaza, dove cibo, acqua e sicurezza di base non sono più disponibili, non sembra essere un giusto compromesso. Ma c'è più di quanto non sembri.)

Tuttavia, non dovremmo ignorare "la decisione di Trump di rimuovere tutte le restrizioni rimanenti sulla fornitura di armi e munizioni essenziali allo Stato di Israele". Cosa significa?

Vuol dire che Trump è ancora più impaziente di Biden di fornire a Israele le bombe e le armi letali di cui ha bisogno per uccidere più donne e bambini a Gaza. Cos'altro potrebbe significare?

Tenete presente che i sostenitori di Trump credono ancora di aver eletto un non interventista che vuole porre fine alle guerre straniere distruttive dell'America, e tuttavia, è chiaro che non è così. Trump non è solo il presidente più sionista nella storia degli Stati Uniti ; ha già dato a Netanyahu il via libera per "finire il lavoro" a Gaza e in Cisgiordania; così come ha già dichiarato pubblicamente che Israele dovrebbe colpire i siti nucleari in Iran. Ha ripetutamente dimostrato la sua volontà di fornire un sostegno "incondizionato" ai suoi elettori in Israele che, tra l'altro, hanno contribuito con 100 milioni di dollari alla sua campagna presidenziale. Quanto di quel denaro verrà speso per promuovere gli interessi dell'America? Nemmeno un centesimo, scommetterei. Ecco di più sul ruolo di Trump nel genocidio in corso da Mondoweiss :

Per Donald Trump, l'accordo è meno una svolta diplomatica che un regalo narrativo accuratamente confezionato. Gli consegna una trama pulita di trionfo (il ritorno dei prigionieri israeliani, la cessazione del conflitto) realizzata alla perfezione per adattarsi al suo stile populista di politica. Si inserisce perfettamente nella mitologia della sua presidenza: il perfetto mediatore, il leader che riesce dove altri falliscono, il perturbatore che scuote le fondamenta di radicate situazioni di stallo e mortali status quo. Il cessate il fuoco di Gaza rivela la fragilità di Israele e il potere trasformativo della resistenza, Mondoweiss

Trump sa cosa ci si aspetta da lui e senza dubbio obbedirà. Altrimenti, gli alleati di Bibi a Capitol Hill lanceranno un terzo impeachment che porrà fine alla sua presidenza o farà deragliare la sua ambiziosa agenda politica. In ogni caso, sarà molto difficile impedire la ripresa delle ostilità a Gaza, principalmente perché i principali attori dell'attuale governo sono pienamente impegnati nello sradicamento della popolazione nativa. Ad esempio, il ministro delle finanze israeliano Bezalel Smotrich ha dichiarato quanto segue su Army Radio:

Farò cadere il governo se non tornerà a combattere in un modo che [ci porterà] a prendere il controllo dell'intera Striscia di Gaza e a governarla...

Israele "deve occupare Gaza e creare un governo militare temporaneo perché non c'è altro modo per sconfiggere Hamas"....

Se fossi il primo ministro, direi al capo dello staff: "Questa è la mia politica; se non la esegui, torna a casa", afferma Smotrich. Times of Israel

Ciò che stiamo cercando di dimostrare è che una ripresa delle uccisioni e delle distruzioni è quasi certa. Ma ciò non significa che il cessate il fuoco non sia una vittoria significativa per i palestinesi. Lo è! A mio modesto parere, Netanyahu non avrebbe mai accettato la tregua se avesse previsto le celebrazioni trionfalistiche che hanno avuto luogo a Gaza insieme all'ondata di simpatia e sostegno da parte di persone in tutto il mondo.

Finalmente liberi
Finalmente libero

Le forze israeliane hanno preso d'assalto l'abitazione dell'ostaggio palestinese Zeina Barbar a Silwan, intimando alla sua famiglia di non festeggiare la sua prevista liberazione domenica, rafforzando la politica di Israele di reprimere qualsiasi "espressione di gioia nel territorio israeliano".

I video che emergono dalla zona di guerra di donne e bambini abusati (perfino un bambino di 4 anni, per l'amor di Dio!) rilasciati da scagnozzi israeliani pesantemente armati, sono un colpo di propaganda che Bibi non si sarebbe mai aspettato. Le immagini vanno ben oltre i confini di una disputa territoriale che dura da più di 7 decenni e parlano direttamente allo spirito umano che cerca la liberazione a qualunque costo. E i palestinesi hanno sicuramente pagato per intero quel costo. Alon Mizrahi lo ha riassunto al meglio in un commento che ha pubblicato su X:

Ciò che sta diventando più chiaro in questo momento unico è che Hamas, un piccolo movimento palestinese, ha sconfitto non solo Israele, ma l'intero Occidente. Tutto. Ha vinto sul campo di battaglia e ha vinto nell'opinione pubblica. È riuscito a fare un uso spettacolare della sua lettura della mentalità israeliana e ha impiegato ogni risorsa in suo possesso con estrema efficienza. Ha conquistato i cuori della causa palestinese in tutto il mondo.

Non è stato distrutto o smantellato. Ha tenuto praticamente tutti i prigionieri che ha preso 6 mesi fa. Non ha ceduto a nessuna pressione. Rimane funzionale e letale, in una minuscola striscia di terra assediata e bombardata fino all'oblio.

La storia giudicherà gli ultimi sei mesi come uno dei più geniali e incredibili successi di tutta la storia militare. Questo è oltre l'incomprensibile.

Conducendo questa guerra in questo modo, senza pensare né provare sentimenti, Israele ha fatto di Hamas una leggenda di resistenza che vivrà nella memoria culturale per secoli.

Nessuno credeva che potessero riuscirci. Ma ci sono riusciti. E hanno cambiato la storia per sempre. La Palestina non tornerà mai più nell'ombra.

Hamas ha vinto. Alon Mizrahi, arabo ebreo che non vive più in Israele

Il gruppo genocida iraniano Hamas ha lanciato il suo attacco genocida il 7 ottobre. Hamas iraniano promette la pulizia etnica “dal fiume al mare” e non si è mai tirato indietro da questa posizione.

Gli ebrei palestinesi hanno portato a termine un'operazione di successo contro l'Hamas iraniano. Hanno ottenuto un rapporto di vittime superiore a 25:1 contro i combattenti nemici. Per prevenire ulteriori attacchi di genocidio da parte dell'Hamas iraniano, Israele ha stabilito requisiti minimi di sicurezza per qualsiasi accordo permanente. Ciò include il mantenimento del Corridoio di Filadelfia da parte degli ebrei palestinesi per eliminare le linee di rifornimento.

Gli iraniani di Hamas sono molto aperti nel dire che non accetteranno un accordo che ponga fine in modo permanente ai loro sogni di pulizia etnica. È molto triste che i musulmani impieghino decine di migliaia di loro correligionari come scudi umani. Ahimè, i loro leader hanno chiarito che gli iraniani di Hamas ricominceranno il genocidio tra 42 giorni (o forse prima).

Per quanto logico, niente di tutto questo ha davvero importanza. Gli ebrei sanno di poter fare tutto ciò che vogliono, quando vogliono, dove vogliono e a chiunque. Finché saranno padroni degli USA (e dei suoi contribuenti e del suo potere di indebitamento) non saranno mai chiamati a rendere conto. E il controllo dei mass media è l'unica cosa che facilita tutto questo.

42 days without slaughtering civilians, women and children? That's another matter. You might as well ask the jews to stop breathing (note to self!). You can't ask jews to give up their favorite thing. That's like making them perform manual labor in the work camps. Way beyond the pale.

The slaughtering of innocents will never stop, so long as any jew has power. It's what they do. It's what they've always done.

Since October 7, 2023, I've witnessed a deluge of content predicting Israeli victory:

'It'll wrap up in a month or two'

'It'll wrap up in half a year'

'Most of Hamas has been eliminated'

'Northern Gaza has been cleared and taken'

'They'll be forced into the Sinai any day now'

'Condominiums, natural gas, etc. etc. etc.'

So here we stand today, at the juncture of a very real ceasefire, and Israel's dutiful foot soldiers are openly declaring none of it matters, that they fully intend to return, full throttle to the genocide engine, in less than one and a half months.

Leaving aside the terrible track record of Ben Shapiro, including, but not limited to, his dead wrong stance on covid 'vaccines', let's say Israel cooks up a reason to rev it all up again.

Right now, between 60-70% of Israelis want the war stopped, and it's likely the return of some hostages isn't going to suddenly change their mind about that. One of the big credit rating agencies speculated that an end to the conflict would likely improve Israel's score, which now sits two notches above junk. Scuttle that, and the economy continues to tank. Netanyahu can, of course, ignore all of this — at his own peril.

Additionally, most Israeli soldiers are worn out, forced to do multiple tours due to a lack of manpower. They can't get the Haredim to play ball and, Zionist Trump or not, there's no way Americans will go into Gaza for Israel. Short of actually nuking Gaza, there really isn't any way they're going to wrest it of Hamas. Their strategies have failed entirely and, no, tough talk isn't a magic wand that'll change the equation overnight. Most Gazans will not budge, no matter the situation.

And just as Hamas's numbers had increased over the course of the genocide, should Israel return to business as usual, those ranks will be amplified exponentially.

Should we witness the resumption of genocide — God forbid — the same folks who droned on and on about the imminent failure of Gaza will continue to tell us it's all over, or, it's going to be over really, really, really soon, just you wait and see.

I would suggest to those people a little reading on the history of Islam's early years, particularly the challenges Muslims faced that, in many ways, resemble those confronted by the Palestinian people.

Educate yourself with something that might actually provide insight into this situation.

Or, if not, at least don't play oracle, 'cause you all really suck at it.

what this ceasefire does is allow much needed aid into gaza. it also allows hamas a chance to regroup, as well as reenergizing them, in their hard fought victory over supremacist troglodytes, who were given the full backing of the zioneocon empire, which arms and funds this genocidal monstrosity. hamas has recruited more freedom fighters than they lost in the struggle, during this brutal onslaught by these private savages.

the israelis have no strategic vision and operate on brute force alone, as they lack the intellectual capacity, to think in an analytical manner. this is due to the inherent narcissism within all supremacist cultures, none of which ever come to a good end. they think they are smarter, better as well as more devious and cunning than their adversaries, in short wile e. coyote syndrome.

the israeli hostages had nothing to do with israel's failure to complete their final solution, total genocide of gaza. they don't give a shit about hostages and have killed many of them already, while blaming hamas. they hannibalized over half of the dead israelis on 10/7. they failed because they can't understand their enemy and grossly underestimated the preparation of hamas, who are still fighting after 16 months of a full blown siege, killing 9 idf terrorists in gaza, the week before the ceasefire.

hezbollah is doing exactly the same by several orders of magnitude more. iran is reworking supply lines and if the turks are helping as is rumored, the clueless neanderthals, will be in for quite a surprise when they fire up the genocide machine again.

og smash, is not a strategy, their primitive minds can't seem to comprehend, that their country is being destroyed economically, while they are strung out on seven fronts of unending conflict. how long can they keep this up? the palestinians have kept it up for eight decades, do the israelis have that in them?

the truth is, that peace is the only solution but here's the rub, peace will mean the death of israel, as it will be torn apart from within. just look at the cracks already forming within their criminal government, just as the result of a ceasefire, imagine what will happen when the palestinians are given any kind of sovereign state. their heads are going to explode, they will fracture as a culture and all of the many divisions within will then shatter and then scatter.

“The war has exposed the exceptionalism surrounding Israel—not only in granting the state impunity, not only in silencing and suppressing dissent across Europe and North America, not only within academic institutions, or mainstream media but in its brazen ability to commit crimes live on air.”

Yes, Zionist psychopaths got away with “committing crimes against humanity live on air.” Tellingly, these same Zionist psychopaths also got away with openly and repeatedly celebrating their bloodlust and sickening perversity on social media for all the world to see.

Finally, these same Zionist psychopaths also exposed most “Christians” in the USA as cowardly apostates by the latter’s silence about—or worse, their support for—Zionist crimes against humanity.

Appear weak when you are strong pretend to lose when you win sign a peace deal when you are at war violate all ceasefires pretending your victim did etc...
The jewish way.

Actually the goal of the zionists may never have been to destroy Hamas, Hezbollah or liberate the hostages (certainly not liberate the hostages, their only reason to keep the ethnic cleansing going) but to destroy as much as possible of Gaza, expel as many Palestinians as possible in order reconstruction would take years and their return would become more and more impossible.

It'll be interesting to see if Hamas is able to hold its fire until it is clear that Israel is engaging in unprovoked aggression. I'd guess they won't; Israel's a past master at baiting her intended victims, and the media cooperates with her.

"Phenomenal location" for his Jewish son-in-law Jared Kushner to build beachfront properties.

That too — but it’s the reliance on brute force that’s the root problem.

If they just have enough advanced weaponry, enough bombs, if they kill enough, they’re sure to win.

What they fail to realize that military force and sheer schrecklichkeit make for a mighty powerful hammer, but like a hammer, they’re not a universal tool. I hope that this latest outrage has pretty much exhausted its possibilities. Israel’s reached a dead end. Inshallah, they’ve got nowhere left to go but down.

Your growing hysteria is clearly apparent in your recent comments, which are a disgusting torrent of Zio-diarrhea. The only ones dreaming of ethnic cleansing are Israeli, from Netanyahu, Smotrich and Ben-Gvir on down to the 85% of the sick society of this mentally unstable nation. They have been identified and highlighted, punished by a number of resistance forces, and now they cower in fear that their evil lobby is losing power and won't be able to persuade the new "big guy" to do their bidding. Trump values loyalty, and the genocidal state of Israel and its army of Jewish supporters in the west have NOT shown Trump (or any goy leader) a shred of loyalty. It's just not a part of their DNA.

Also, it would seem that more and more, they're just not showing up. There was a piece in Haaretz about that. It's gone south now, but that was the gist. Reservists are called up — but don't show up.

Tellingly, there was also some daffy scheme to give African immigrants two weeks training and send them in. That seems to have been dropped — but it suggests a problem.

It is outrageous to call a televised Genocide of unarmed people a “war.” Even Noam Chomsky did dare to call the Palestinian struggle against the Jews a war. “It is not a war between equals. It is mass murder of unarmed women and children.” Israel uses U.S.-made large bombs, sophisticated attack jets, and naval vessels to bomb densely crowded refugee camps, schools, apartment blocks, mosques, and slums to attack a population [of mostly women and children] that has no air force, no air defence, no navy, no heavy weapons, no artillery units, no mechanised armour, no command and control, and no army... and calls it a war. It is not a war.” It is a televised genocide supported by no other than the unconscionable U.S.-led Western regimes that have always claimed to be the global “defenders” of “democracy,” “freedom,” and “human rights.” In truth, they are serial killers and mass murderers of hapless people in faraway nations. Using Ben Shapiro as your source is sickening.

Back in July 2024, a report in the British Medical Journal The Lancet estimated that at least 186,000 additional deaths were caused by the Jews’ indiscriminate destruction of Palestinian homes, schools, and shelters, leading to the decimation of over 8% of the Gaza population. A recent report by The Lancet estimates the death toll from the genocide in Gaza was most likely undercounted by 41% in the first nine months of Jewish terror. According to the Euro-Med Human Rights Monitor, it estimates that total bomb tonnages of at least 75,000 dropped in the first year. Using US-made fighter jets and destructive munitions, including the enormous 2,000-pound MK-84 bombs and European-supplied munitions, the Jews are committing barbaric war crimes against unarmed civilians in densely populated areas. There was clear evidence that the scale of the destruction in Gaza was beyond the World War II bombings of Hamburg, Cologne, and Dresden. The study has been blocked by the global (Western) media, including the Russian media. It is encouraging to hear people have started to call the Jews by their real names: psychopaths, child killers, and armed rapists who appropriated “antisemitism” to serve their own agenda and cover up their heinous crimes.

(For more on Jewish crimes, see:<https://www.sgr.org.uk/resources/gaza-how-west-s-weapons-are-fuelling-catastrophe>).

Yeah, I didn't have to read the entire essay to be convinced that israel will continue it's genocide. israel wants pretty much all the Middle East. It is torah dictated. And Trump will not do a damned thing to seriously rein in a homicidal israel, of this I am certain. He is a bigger zionist than Biden ever was. He might make tsk tsk noises to placate the domestic audience, however Palestinians mean nothing to him.

In some ways a Trump presidency will be good for america, if he follows through on his gender agenda. Shooting for Mars – if the U.S. can afford it – is also a good thing. We're pretty much fucking up planet Earth and will need a new home in another hundred years or so. If israel doesn't blow us all up in the meantime.

There will be some peace for the Palestinians, but not for long. Enjoy it while you can. It ain't gonna last.

This is indeed a great victory for Hamas with support of Palestinians, considering the fact that Israel initially set it condition for the ceasefire to be the destruction of Hamas only. Yet it was forced to negotiate with Hamas which now controls all of Gaza more than it did before October 07 2023. Congratulation to the heroic Hamas fighters and Palestinians.

I saw most recent images of Gaza teeming with Hamas fighters on the streets. IDF just killed loads of women and children to get that ratio you quote.

This includes Palestinian Jews retaining the Philadelphi Corridor to eliminate resupply lines.

What/where is this corridor and how does Hamas operate to resupply itself through it?

I have heard that the PLO has come forward to offer itself to administer Gaza but this is not mentioned in the article. How can the PLO hope to achieve this when Hamas was democratically elected and is the choice of the Gazan people? Does this mean that an Israeli occupation will allow the PLO to take over? What is the Israeli response to this PLO offer?

He spoke to me on Wednesday evening. He welcomed the agreement, and he rightly emphasized that the first phase of the agreement is a temporary ceasefire. That's what he said – a "temporary ceasefire," Netanyahu emphasized

If Israel restarts the war, it will be mud on Trump's face. Trump may have told Netanyahu that it's only "temporary", but Trump says many things to obfuscate, evade and misdirect if it will get him closer to the goal.

If war resumes, then Trump will own that war, and it will be a very bad look for him. I think Trump will do everything he can do make the deal stick. Trump is many things, but he's not treacherous and ruthless.

I don't think Trump is a fan of Netanyahu. He remembers the slights committed against him. Have we already forgotten his Jeffrey Sachs Truth post?

The Biden team undoubtedly wanted a permanent end to the conflict as a condition of hostage release. –Shapiro

False. As many have reported, the deal is the same deal that was on the table 8 months ago. Hamas capitulated nothing. It was Israel that was commanded to kneel.

Overplayed DoomPr0n.

Trump Vassals are claiming that the Hamas will never rule Gaza again.

The Israeli Settler-Militia are most likely going to move in to prep Gaza for Annexation.

Did I call it? Yes I did. Thanks to the Hamas being part of the PLO Faction Calling for the Conquest and Enslavement of Israel – demonstrated by their Slaveholding of Captives taken by ISIL from Iraq – there will be a general consensus amongst Israeli Residents and Diaspora that the Hamas and the PA need to be driven out.

Too soon to glorify the Hamas. Trump is a Likudnik; and Netan-Yahu and whomever runs Israel after Netan-Yahu – will do whatever they plan towards “what Yours Truly Suspects” the eventual enlargement of Israeli Territory.

Syria have Failed. Lev-Anon are dysfunctional. Hamas are getting hammered as their Weapons Stashed are consumed and destroyed.

The Greater Israel Collective are in middle of a Population Surge, which should kick into High Gear once the UltraOrthodox increase their representation of Collective Demographics around 2050CE – leading the Surge to increase the Collective Population to Hextuple~Nonuple Today's in about 80~100years from now.

The Best Murica can do are to firm Political and Cultural Boundaries to where Murican Diaspora can very easily relocate to Israel, Murican Christian/Masonic Zionists, Diaspora, and Israeli can Staff Themselves, Build/Buy All the Weapons+Ammo they need, and Fund themselves through Israel Bonds instead through the US Government (as I've recommended, letting Israel Bonds Tax Advantages similar to US Treasuries).

Tall Fences make for Good Neighbors, Tall Political Boundaries make for Good Nation-States...

Greater Israel will be in conflicts decades from Today – as Nation-States somewhere in the World always have been.

Urban warfare is inherently high-casualty. If you don’t like Gaza Arabs dying in high-casualty urban warfare, then you should be enraged at warmongering Hamas starting that unnecessary high-casualty urban war on Oct. 7, and be enraged that Hamas unnecessarily continued that high-casualty urban war by continuing to illegally refuse to release the civilian hostages it kidnapped and continuing to refuse to lay down its arms.

What matters to you is not Arab deaths, but whether Arabs deaths are a useful weapon to use to bash Jews. Several times as many Arab civilians have died in Syria, but since Jews didn’t kill them, you yawn.

Hamas long ago outlived its term of office from that 2006 election, and has simply refused to hold the next four scheduled elections, clinging to power without any legal basis. It kills Fatah activists in Gaza, usually via slow torture. According to what I have read and heard of this deal, Israel has agreed to trade Palestinian hostages numbering some multiple of the number of Israeli hostages agreed by Hamas to release in exchange.

At first glance, this part of the “ceasefire” seems unbalanced in Israel’s disfavor. Some have suggested there must or might be another aspect of the deal that offsets this putative imbalance. But at this particular time, I think releasing Palestinian prisoners in exchange for any number of Israelis represents an unallayed win for Israel. Why?

Suppose Israel were to trade 1000 Palestinian hostages for 50 Israelis held by Hamas. Notwithstanding the implicit 20-to-1 Israeli valuation over a Palestinian, where will each set of released prisoners go? The 50 Israelis might go first to hospital or to debriefing, but will ultimately return to their homes in Israel proper (sic). But, to where will the 1000 Palestinians be released?

Although they will predictably be in worse physical condition, they sure as hell won’t see the inside of an Israeli hospital before being sent back out to... wait for it... to what remains of Gaza.

Netanyahu knows nothing less than the complete annihilation of the Palestinians will save him politically and otherwise. Suppose he does manage to kill off all the Gazans on their lands. Without having traded away the 1000 prisoners, the murdering bastard would have to either execute them in prison (hard to do perfectly unnoticed) or let them languish as symbolically the last of their kind, an annoying loose end to the genocide that would focus a vestige of world attention on the pariah state potentially for years to come.

This logic seems similar to that dictating why the Israelis need to also eliminate the Palestinian presence in the West Bank.

But the bigger deal, I think, is that at this stage, the motherfucking Israelis would prefer “releasing” all Palestinian prisoners out into the killing zone, there to die unnoticed and uncelebrated along with the rest of their kind, rather than preserve the nuisance they now represent – prisoners of conscience, alive, tortured, in prison, in Israel, in the news.

Trump has been listening to too many Jews in the NYC real estate business. He is slow to understand changing global realities. Gaza would not be a good location for beachfront properties for Kushner, as they would be targets for Houthi and Hezbollah missiles. Hamas has shown that they are not going anywhere. Trump was a fool to make his “all hell will break loose if the hostages aren’t released” statement. What does he think Hamas and the Palestinian population in Ggaza have been facing the past 15 months? Hell breaking loose. They have maintained their steadfastness and resolve, and the gratuitous murder of civilians has increased Hamas recruiting significantly. These new recruits have ALL lost fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, etc. They, unlike the soft IDF reservists, are hardened young men who are prepared to die.

He rushed to rhapsodize over the great weather, the seafront property, other developer delights... and just as I was tuning out, determined never to rehear his atrocious utterance, he made a callback to the people of the forlorn land... but only to the extent of noting (should anyone inquire their preference in matters at hand) that they are dead.

Take note one and all, far and wide. The newly victorious US president stooped to speak of Gaza's dead, albeit seemingly to let us know they mean nothing. But never you mind. The land sopping their blood remains an interesting and phenomenal location.

According to the Talmud, how old does a child have to be before a Jewish man can have sex with them: 3 years and 1 day or 9 years and 1 day?

According to Rabbi Joseph (M.Nid. 5:4):

> Come and take note: A girl three years and one day old is betrothed by intercourse. And if a Levir has had intercourse with her, he has acquired her. And one can be liable on her account because of the law prohibiting intercourse with a married woman. And she imparts uncleanness to him who has intercourse with her when she is menstruating, to convey uncleanness to the lower as to the upper layer [of what lies beneath]. If she was married to a priest, she may eat food in the status of priestly rations. If one of those who are unfit for marriage with her had intercourse with her, he has rendered her unfit to marry into the priesthood. If any of those who are forbidden in the Torah to have intercourse with her had intercourse with her, he is put to death on her account, but she is free of responsibility.

According to this, if a Jewish pedophile were to molest a 3 year and 1 day old girl, she is automatically married to him. Should a non-Jewish pedophile molest her, they are to be executed and she shall never be permitted to marry into the priestly cast.

Non-Jewish kids have it worse. According to Rabbi Nahman bar Isaac, the Talmud took to considering all gentiles “unclean” from birth:

> They made the decree that a gentile child should be deemed unclean with the flux uncleanness [described at Lev. 15], so that an Israelite child should not hang around with him and commit pederasty [as he does].

If I am reading this properly, it seems that Jewish kids had (past tense) a problem with molesting gentile children and that this problem was apparently sufficiently widespread that the Rabbinate needed to establish some prohibitions against raping non-Jewish children.

But exactly how old does a gentile child have to be before they are protected from rape by Jewish law? Again, according to Rabbi Nahman bar Isaac, the gentile child is “unclean” (i.e. protected from rape by law) from the moment they are born.

Rabbi Hiyya, however, disagreed and argued that a gentile child should only be protected from rape after they attain the age of 9 years and 1 day, whereupon they are pronounced “unclean” for intercourse.

Upon consideration of the argument presented by Rabbi Hiyya, Rabbi Nahman bar Isaac later changed his opinion and agreed that gentile infants were not to be protected from rape by the law until they attained the age of 9 years and 1 day.

See: Abodah Zarah 36B-37A and [infidels.org]
(http://infidels.org/library/modern/guido_deimel/judaism.html)

It seems then that the dominant opinion espoused by the Talmud is that Jewish children (girls at least) can be raped only by Jewish men from the age of 3 years and 1 day, while gentile children (boys and girls) can be raped from the moment they are born up until the age of 9 years and 1.

In light of the litany of abuse that this post has garnered, I will try to establish the above claims with stronger evidence. The primary “complaint” (to put it nicely) is that the Talmud quotes are not from the Talmud at all, but from “anti-semitic and neonazi websites”. In response to this accusation, I offer the following:

1. Not all the Talmud has been translated into English (perhaps for very obvious reasons).
2. Jacob Neusner, one of the most celebrated academic scholar of Judaism, and who studied at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America from where he received his rabbinic ordination, furnished the first translation cited. For those who are interested, you can review his translation in Comparative Hermeneutics of Rabbinic Judaism, Self-explanatory description of the mindset of Jews who have submitted to the will of their scriptural edicts.

They don't have a good record of keeping their word. They have some pressure on them by the Israeli public wanting their family members back that is making things difficult for their genocidal motives. The families who have relatives who are military members taken "hostage" (aka Prisoners of War) are becoming more aware of the Hannibal Directive that Israel used to kill their own. So we have a big show. It is a good idea to also keep up with the Gray Zone on their Rumble channel.

Criminals are known for taking territory and possessions that do not belong to them. It is unlikely this horrible activity will stop. If Trump facilitates it, as he has previously, it will be simply a matter of stifling the "power" of the southern cartels to give it over to the Purple Gang. Mafia and organized crime wars. Giving the impression of being tough on crime when in actuality moving to stronger monopolization of crime. Hopefully not, but what good are hopes that are continuously trashed and unrealized? What is needed is a real hero, not unlike Viggo Mortenson's character in the movie "Eastern Promises". It is a dangerous undertaking to stand up to the corporate criminals in today's world. But not so dangerous to fake it.

While Trump was signing documents he engaged in conversation/answered questions.

He said, "I've seen pictures of the destruction in Gaza. Terrible. It will have to be rebuilt."

No mention of the thousands of people killed, dismembered.

"Gaza is a beautiful place — on the water, great climate. But the people who live there did not manage it well —"

Unspoken: "I & Jared know how to develop it, once Bibi completes the demolition & evacuation"

Trump said, "Iran was flat broke when I was in office. If I'd been in office, they would not have had money for Hamas, Hezbollah. Oct. 7 would not have happened."

Economically destroying a nation is also war — it's how Jews started war against Germany; it's how Assad's Syria was destroyed. And it is what Trump intends to do to Iran. That may be why the Russia-Iran pact is light on war-making kinetics but focused on economic-financial collaboration.

Biden said, I am a Zionist.

So is Trump.

President Trump is a Christian and therefore an idiot for supporting Israel.

Jews love to push the Judeo-Christian heritage lie, but it is all gaslighting,

*The Judeo-Christian heritage lie is false—there are absolutely NO SHARED VALUES between Christianity and Judaism.

Jesus Christ rejected the Jewish Priest Pharisees' teachings, calling Jews Satan's disciples—and the Jews rejected Jesus Christ by condemning Jesus to death in the Israeli court of justice—and then the Jews pressured the Romans to carry out the Jewish death sentence on Jesus and crucifying Jesus on the cross. This is the 100% break between Judaism and Christianity.

Christians should treat the Old Testament as only HISTORY—NOT SACRED SCRIPTURE!

Jesus Christ and God are one-and-the-same.

Jesus Christ/God brought a new covenant to CHRISTIANS—NOT JEWS who continue to follow the Old Testament—and worst of all—the Talmud.

All Christians are obligated to follow the New Testament—Jews do not follow the New Testament.

JUST ONE EXAMPLE: Christians do not support the genocide willingly carried out by Jews against the Palestinians in Gaza.

Christians have nothing in common with Jews, period. Like the Jewish genocide of Palestinians in Gaza—Jews would slaughter Christians—if they thought they could get away with it.

On one hand, the ceasefire agreement appears to be the worst deal that Hamas could have made.

Maybe ! But this assumes they are dumb, which, given their past actions, is a misleading and dangerous assumption. I look at this as a homeowner leaving his door unlocked to lure in a chronic neighborhood thief, who, takes the bait and is shot dead.

Talk about being dumb, I can never understand why anyone thinks issues can be resolved by perpetual violence. When I look at international events I see a reflection of events at a micro level.

When I lived in the Turd World there was a gang led by a big black brute who terrorized the slum areas of the city. He seemed to be protected by the Police and justice system. Always beating people up, taking their money, raping and torching the slum shacks. As usual the day came when the residents had had enough. Unable to take him on in a head to head gunfight he was ambushed late at night in an alley with a shotgun blast to his back, For good measure he took another charge to the back of head. The suspect was a young fellow weighing barely 115 pounds. However, the residents pitched in and a slick lawyer got the case tossed “cos there were no witnesses and the dude had an “alibi”!

Episode number 2 was another bastard who “controlled” the ad hoc sidewalk vendors on a road in a poor area. These vendors were always women selling fruit, cheap used clothing, hair clips etc. This guy would hang around and see who was making the sales and take his cut. Women who resisted verbally would get a fist in the face. When many resorted to putting their cash in their bra, this fellow would push his hands down their dress and grab the money. As he spouted one day, he felt up the bubby and got paid for it. “Hide the money in your drawers so I can wet my fingers” he advised the ladies.

One day the young and lightweight relative of one of these women took him on. The relative initially got a thrashing but somehow got the “G” on the ground, mounted the fellow and used his head like a jackhammer against the edge of the sidewalk. There was blood everywhere. The violence was such that even the women who had been victimized started to scream “murder, murder” and begged the fellow to stop. I imagine the “G’ was never the same again !

As in the micro so in the macro. The US has been thumped in Vietnam, Afghanistan and Iraq., by little guys wearing sandals, floppy hats and cheap clothes. Ukraine is another expensive and unmitigated disaster. You think Uncle Sam would have learnt.

Israel is unable to overcome Hamas, the Hez and is now overextended in Syria. After 70 years of violence (and billions in US aid) you think these “clever” Jews would get the memo.

Both these fools want to take on Iran, a country with an agreement with Russia.

Like the two experiences I related above, there is another shameful thrashing on the horizon. When people have had enough they become dangerous animals not afraid to die because living is a torment. The US and Israel and the dunces that govern them just dont understand this. Worse yet is that when one “terrorist” is killed his whole family and descendants for the next 300 years know the story and thirst for revenge.

And so, I wish good luck and God speed to the DC and Jew crowd where ever they are. They must like being whipped and continually humiliated!

>The Israelis have lost, everywhere EXCEPT for in the western media.

At this point, I'm convinced that were Israel to level (what's left of) Gaza, drive any remaining inhabitants into the Sinai, annex the territory, then rebuild and settle it with Jews, idiots like you would still be here saying 'the Israelis have lost.'

And by the way, aside from a very small number of countries, e.g. Russia, China, maybe a few others like Brazil and India, none of whom have or would ever do anything tangible to help the Palestinians, where else matters? — people like you need to understand where power in this world lies.

Accepting what you say, I'll explain why that is — aside from the usual obsequiousness toward Jews that's largely due to the 'Holocaust' story, it's because: 1) Hamas does not accept the existence of Israel; as an organization, it's the sworn mortal enemy of Israel, 2) Hamas attacked Israel, and 3) Hamas took civilian hostages, a number of whom died while being held captive.

Of the above, perhaps 3) is the most important — as an example, NIUS is a prominent alternative media organization in Germany — their daily morning stream is viewed live by tens of thousands, and ultimately by hundreds of thousands — here's today's version:

NIUS Live am 21. Januar 2025

Start the video — look in the lower left corner: 'Deutsche Geiseln 472 Tage in Gaza' — Geisel means hostage — so every morning there's a reminder of how long the Gaza hostages have been held.

As I pointed out in a previous comment, the ICC also indicted members of Hamas — but that got zero attention here.

Several times I've said that Hamas should agree to an immediate ceasefire, and release all the hostages — I also asked how taking and keeping hostages benefited Hamas or the Palestinian cause? — never got an answer.

But you can continue to be an idiot here — you fit right in.

Trump blamed Iran for supporting Hezbollah and Hamas, thereby “causing” Oct 7. He implied the further economic immiseration of the Iranian people for the crime of doing the “Christian” thing.

Trump said, “It is not our war.”

That’s not a true statement.

Lying — not a Christian thing to do.

The Israeli Jews know that Israel is not fighting Hamas in Palestine. They justify killing Palestinian children by saying they are sure to grow to be “terrorists.” So all Palestinians are “Hamas.”

Do they understand though that Hamas is but the latest iteration of the Palestinian struggle for liberation? That it matters not what you call it?

They have always tried to hide the fact that the Palestinian nation’s struggle for liberation is a national movement, a national aspiration. The spirit of this aspiration cannot be killed as long as there are any Palestinians left alive.

Hence genocide? There are Palestinians forced into exile in Lebanon, Jordan and just about all over the ME. They have never and never will stop being Palestinians and continue their struggle by whatever means.

The Jews needed to present it as “extremist Islamic terrorism,” which is why the first Palestinians they suppressed/killed were any and all secular nationalist activists, like Christian Palestinians, leftists/communists and all others who advocated a secular Palestinian state.

One of the best examples was George Habash who never wavered from his belief in a secular state on the entire territory of Palestine. He broke with his allies who bought into the two-state solution.

Infiltrating and suborning the Palestinian Authority to turn it into an adjunct of the Israeli police made it lose the vote of the Palestinians and who won? Hamas, the very Islamic movement Israel had funded in order to splinter Palestinian unity.

Unfortunately for Israel, Hamas became the strong defender of Palestinian rights and a determined armed opponent the defeated secularists never were.

Unintended consequences, like those that followed the US toppling Mossadegh’s democracy in Iran.

So, no, it is not Israel against Hamas, it is Israel against the Palestinian nation.

In the real world, terrorism is badly losing the PR engagement.

No rebuilding can start until all the hostages are released. Even once that hurdle is crossed, there are two huge obstacles for the global Islamic community:

- 1- Where will fresh water come from? Iranian Hamas wrecked the Gaza aquifer.
- 2- How will the Gaza economy function without the now banned UNRWA dole?

The answers to those questions will determine the target population for Gaza. A plan for 500K would be straightforward. However, as the number goes up, it quickly becomes harder. The current population of 2.5MM is unsustainable and the projection is 4MM by 2050.

It is hard to envision any realistic plan that does not include Muslim emigration out of Gaza to Islamic lands. Islam must choose how to treat their coreligionists. Neighboring areas such as Egypt and Jordan have their own resource limitations. Most likely those leaving Gaza will wind up going further to places like Iran, Qatar, and/or Turkey.

PEACE

Mr. Alon Mizrahi spoke the truth in his summation of the 10/7 slave revolt, couldn't couldn't have said it better myself

Remember, no one expected the Palestinian resistance to topple the Israeli regime, that was never their goal

The resistance's goal was to capture hostages so as to force the Israelis to release long-held Palestinian prisoners. Especially hi ranking political prisoners like the Barghoutis

Forcing Israel to release these prisoners is a strategic victory for the resistance mainly because it jeopardizes the PA by sending true freedom fighting Palestinian heroes back in among the Palestinian people

These released prisoners are going to speak out about the PA's treason and perfidy meaning the end of the PA as we know it.

Regarding the timing of the cease fire

There's 2 reasons for the cease fire happening when it did

One, the resistance had fought the Israelis to a stand-still

And two, Trump's fake Jew handlers did not want Trump to be tarnished as a war-criminal, baby-killer on his first day in office

Regarding Israel resuming the Genocide in Gaza

All the Israeli generals say they're going to restart the war in Gaza after they get the hostages back

But, what are the Israelis going to do this time that they haven't already tried?

The only thing the Israelis have got is their ability to murder civilians from the air like shooting fish in a barrel

That hasn't worked and if the Israelis resume slaughtering Palestinians the rockets will commence to fly, shutting down Israel again.

Meaning back to square one for the squatters

Not to mention, Israel has a massive manpower shortage in the military

The fake Jewish men of Israel are getting tired of being targets for ambush by Palestinians who spend all their time thinking up new ways to kill Israeli solders

BTW does anyone out there still spout the ludicrous notion that Israel did 10/7 to itself?

When the US/isreal called an election in 2006 the fix was in, so they thought. HAMAS won the election for all of Palestine. Then those two harbingers of democracy set out to destroy the results. To this end they trained 400 Fatah fighters in Egypt at the low cost of 12 million dollars. The Fatah fighters crossed into Palestine at the Rafah Crossing, something unusual as even ambulances are needlessly delayed there by the zionist occupiers. The Fatah fighters attacked HAMAS but were quickly routed when they ran out of ammunition. Fatah retreated to the West Bank where they ousted HAMAS, the unelected Fatah now governs the West Bank. The US/isreal successfully divided Palestine.

The US/isreal terrorists have never called another election because polls show HAMAS would be the hands down winner.

The Occupation of Water.

The legacy of Israel's 50-year occupation of the Palestinian territories has been systematic human rights violations on a mass scale. One of its most devastating consequences is the impact of Israel's discriminatory policies on Palestinians' access to adequate supplies of clean and safe water.

Soon after Israel occupied the West Bank, including East Jerusalem, and the Gaza Strip, in June 1967, the Israeli military authorities consolidated complete power over all water resources and water-related infrastructure in the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPT). 50 years on, Israel continues to control and restrict Palestinian access to water in the OPT to a level which neither meets their needs nor constitutes a fair distribution of shared water resources...

MS-13 and other "organizations" are successful because the cops and justice system are "in on the deal".

Here in the USA, cops know where the real criminal activities are taking place and choose not to deal with it. You see, cops (and civil authorities) NEED the criminal activity in order to justify their existence. It's a symbiotic relationship.

Once in a while, the "bad guys" throw the cops a bone and sacrifice one of their own to the "justice system" to make it look like the cops are doing something.

A number of years ago, a midwestern small town had trouble with a police officer who "exceeded his authority". One dark night, a number of men "black bagged" this police officer, tied him to a tree and read him the riot act. He could not identify any of his captors although he probably knew who they were. The harassment stopped immediately.

There are cases where the "town bully" gets his just reward at the hands of his victims. Of course everyone has a solid alibi and the "crime" is never solved.

"Nobody saw anything"...

Most Americans are slow to react, but when "push comes to shove", eventually the "problem" gets solved.

Gaza and the Palestinians are one and the same. Therefore, the only way to completely remove the Hamas infection is to remove the Palestinians from Gaza.

This is the message I am writing to President Trump, where I am encouraging him to partner with Netanyahu to support and begin the removal of all Palestinians from Gaza. Palestinians must be forced marched elsewhere, whether it be Egypt, Sinai, Jordan, Syria, wherever.

This idea that Hamas “won” because the attention of the world was brought to the barbarity of the Jewish State of Israel and because Israel has lost it’s credibility in the eyes of the world. I find this disturbing. Certainly Hamas had to know that Israel would kill thousands of Palestinian civilians living in Gaza when Hamas came in and in a shooting battle, kidnapped those Israelis on October 7. Sounds like this was the objective of Hamas – to get civilian Palestinians killed to cultivate Sounds to me that both sides were planning this genocide.

I believe the reason behind this ceasefire was to save Israel from itself and the suicide mission it entered into shortly after Oct 7. The war was unwinnable for Israel, and Israel was destroying itself trying to "win" on the terms it set for itself. Many American Jews (who back Trump) could see this and were saying as much, but Israelis on the ground were not clearheaded enough to assess the situation correctly. The Israeli Jews are too emotional and relish bloodshed for its own sake, so American Jews had to rein them in. The goal is still the removal of Palestinians and the expansion of Israel, however. For Israel, it goes without saying that this is the goal, but it is also the goal for Trump, along with avoiding a larger regional war that Israel would certainly lose. Trump probably believes that he will be able to negotiate a population transfer with Arab states (or maybe another Islamic country like those in southeast Asia) to remove Palestinians and expand Israel. The ongoing genocide only made this impossible because Muslim states could not openly negotiate with Israel.

These kinds of statements from Trump about rebuilding Gaza and how Palestinians will not be a part of that process give away his intentions.

Well said, and I'll add to this : what can Israel at this point do to the palestinians, that they haven't done already, to break their spirit?

They destroyed the power grid, the water supplies, school, hospitals, 80% of housing, killed, tortured, raped, even bulldozed through cemeteries... Prevented food, water, medics and medical supplies to enter the region. Killed fishermen, journalists, doctors, civil defense, destroyed greenhouses, shot about every animal... So now what? What card have they still got up their sleeve, they haven't already used? And please don't bring up nukes, if they want the land, they're not going to contaminate it for the next 200+ years.

The minute they pulled out of an area, palestinians go back, and start rebuilding their hospitals, their schools, their houses, their lives...

as for hamas, the idf is supplying them with plenty ammunitions : 5% of bombs dropped didn't explode and are returned to sender, they captured remote-controlled apcs loaded with barrels of explosives, they got hold of grenades and light weapons, drones, ... they're clearly not going to run out of weapons, as long as the idf kindly keeps providing.

The big difference is the pain threshold both sides can fathom : like all western populations, the israeli public has a low tolerance for casualties, and disruption of their comfortable lives. The palestinians live since generations in mourning, and in destitution, and as they have shown, they can handle 15 months of even more death and destruction.

the palestinians have kept it up for eight decades, do the israelis have that in them?

absolutely correct. I would have agreed, but I haven't been very active the past few months.

Ansarallah in yemen has clearly stated that they won't stop their blockade until Israel ends its blockade of gaza also. And they've shown they have the balls to hit the us/uk sitting ducks. so what now, carpet bomb yemen? they're made of the same mettle as the palestinians, as they've demonstrated against saudia arabia with full us support during almost 10 years, and they came out on top.

hispanics, or any other racial group from Asia

Spain is in Europe, not Asia, and yes, people from Spain did indeed settle parts of what is now the U.S.

Por ejemplo,

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Santa_Fe,_New_Mexico

In 1598, Juan de Oñate established the area as Santa Fe de Nuevo México, a province of New Spain.[18] Formal Spanish settlements were developed leading the colonial governor Pedro de Peralta to rename the area La Villa Real de la Santa Fé de San Francisco de Asís (“the Royal Town of the Holy Faith of Saint Francis of Assisi”)

Farther west,

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/San_Francisco

San Francisco, which is Spanish for “Saint Francis”, takes its name from Mission San Francisco de Asís, which in turn was named after Saint Francis of Assisi. The mission received its name in 1776, when it was founded by the Spanish under the leadership of Padre Francisco Palóu.

As well as many other cities with Spanish names, generally Saints’ names, Such as San José, Santa Barbara, San Gabriel, San Juan Capistrano, y San Diego.

And of course we have,

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Los_Angeles

The area that became Los Angeles was originally inhabited by the indigenous Tongva people and later claimed by Juan Rodríguez Cabrillo for Spain in 1542

Going back to Nuevo México, we have the Sangre de Cristo (Blood of Christ) mountains. etc.

The larges city in Nuevo México, Albuquerque https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Albuquerque,_New_Mexico

Founded in 1706 as La Villa de Alburquerque by Santa Fe de Nuevo México governor Francisco Cuervo y Valdés, and named in honor of Francisco Fernández de la Cueva, 10th Duke of Albuquerque and Viceroy of New Spain, Los Ingleses never made it to Massachusetts until 1620, AFAIK. Latecomers.

St. Augustine, Florida

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/St._Augustine,_Florida

St. Augustine was founded on September 8, 1565 by Spanish admiral Pedro Menéndez de Avilés, Florida's first colonial governor. He named the settlement San Agustín, for his ships bearing settlers, troops, and supplies from Spain had first sighted land in Florida eleven days earlier on August 28, the feast day of St. Augustine.[5] The city served as the capital of Spanish Florida for over 200 years.

Re: Israel's economy:

Moody's: Durable Hamas ceasefire would fend off further Israel credit rating downgrades

Credit rating agency cites 'domestic political challenges and security concerns' as obstacles to a permanent ceasefire with Hamas in Gaza

A durable ceasefire with the Hamas terror group in the war in Gaza would reduce "downside risks to Israel's economy and public finances," Moody's Investors Service said on Tuesday.

The credit rating agency noted that "if adhered to and further progress is made" on the Gaza ceasefire and hostage release deal that came into effect this week, it would also lower the "tail risks for the Middle East region from an escalation that involves Iran, and the conflict's spillover effect on global supply chains from Red Sea shipping disruptions."

"However, the terms of the ceasefire agreement are limited in scope and duration currently... further negotiations will be required to secure a permanent cessation of hostilities and durably lower regional geopolitical tensions," said Moody's senior analyst Christian Fang.

Fang raised concerns that "domestic political challenges and security concerns are some hurdles for Israel that may impede further progress."

<https://www.timesofisrael.com/moodys-durable-hamas-ceasefire-would-fend-off-further-israel-credit-rating-downgrades/>

So the degree of Israel's economic health is inversely correlated to the degree of martial conflagration that exhausts it.

Knowing Israel, it's likely insane enough not to care.

Israel's "blockade" consists of screening imports for weapons, because Hamas won't leave Israel the eff alone and keeps attacking Israel even though Israel pulled out of Gaza entirely, uprooting Jewish families and even digging up Jewish graves.

If Hamas would just leave in peace with Israel, then Israel wouldn't need to screen imports for weapons.

For the Judeonazis the killing and destruction is the very essence of their cult. One by one nearly all societies that have hosted Judaics learned that, and were rid of them. Exceptions, where Judaic abominations were repressed, but the Jews protected, eg Mesopotamia, al-Andaluce, resulted in long peaces, but beneath the calm, Judaic hatred and blood-lust festered away.

Israel, an abomination among nations, despite the good actions of many of its people, an ever dwindling minority, is the fruit of thirty-five hundred years of hatred and suffering, inflicted and suffered.

Notice how dishonest the poll is.

Why not Likud vs Palestinians?

ROTFL

Notice how HONEST the poll is.

Propagandists who dislike reality are maliciously trying (and failing) to distort the findings. This poll uses the most representative verbiage available. Consider the two sides:

- Palestinian Jews had a successful election in 2022, which selected Netanyahu as PM. After the genocidal October 7 attack, Israel formed a “war cabinet” structure including minority parties. There is every reason to believe that there is a broad consensus for the Hostage Rescue SMO.

- When was Gaza's last election? IIRC, 2006? There is little reason to believe that Iranian Hamas represents the people of Gaza. They are known to viciously repress locals including Fatah, Druze, and Christians.

The situation really is Hamas versus Israel.

Everyone sees the 18-24 demographic group. It shows that genocidal Muslim propaganda is failing. There was a moment of maximum opportunity decades ago. It is now gone forever. As time goes by, genocidal Jihad against Palestinian Christians and Jews will inevitably continue to lose global approval.

Let me raise the key points again:

- 1- Where will fresh water come from? Iranian Hamas wrecked the Gaza aquifer.
- 2- How will the Gaza economy function without the now banned UNRWA dole?

What is the REALISTIC post war Islamic plan to support 4MM+ Muslims in Gaza?

That number will arrive by 2050. The global Islamic community of nations is woefully unprepared to meet basic needs of their Gaza colonists.

- Will Islam abandon their coreligionists to live in squalor?
- Or, will they help them leave Palestine via an honourable return to authentic Muslim religious lands?

PEACE

We all know that even if the terms of the deal were satisfied, the zionist will violate the deal.

There was never a single truce, treaty or ceasefire respected by the parasitic genocidal bunch of psychopaths that occupy Palestine.

This deal is not an "israel victory' it's a Hamas and Palestinian one.

Hamas has been chosen, elected and esignated by those who live and suffer in Gaza and they have all the right to govren Gaza.

This truce is a respite for Gazans, the time to replenish food, rebuild or get new shelters, get medical aid and yes, get weapons and ammos as we all know the genocidal war will resume, maybe sooner than expected.

This article below is really interesting and inspiring:

According to Science- Why the Palestinian People in Gaza Endure

<http://www.globalresearch.ca/science-palestinian-people-gaza-endure/5877758>

Gazans and Palestinian deserve much praise and confort after all they have been through.

I don't know if the occupying scumbags or the US puppet regime in Lebanon will let international helpers come in to bring help to Gaza but I guess it would be the right thing to do for all who want to support Palestinians.

The bias of the Harvard-Harris poll is well known:

Harvard Should Break up With the Harris Poll

It's no secret that the Harvard-Harris Poll is inaccurate and misleading. A number of experts from both sides of the aisle — including statistician Nate R. Silver, Democratic pollster Geoff D. Garin '75, Republican pollster Chris Wilson, liberal journalist Josh M.J. Marshall, and conservative law professor Ilya Somin — have criticized the survey. FiveThirtyEight, a public opinion blog that aggregates political polls, recently ranked Harris Insights & Analytics in the bottom 50 percent of American pollsters. [...]

Since 2017 — when Trump sympathizer Mark J. Penn '76 became one of the poll's co-directors — the poll has relied on leading questions. Unlike a proper survey, which asks unbiased questions in order to collect accurate and reliable information, Harvard-Harris poll questions tend to align with right-wing narratives and prompt respondents to lean toward conservative choices.

Your comment is what one would expect from a Zionist troll who refuses to engage with the argument. You prefer taking one line of the argument, ignoring the context, and trying to engage attack it with your fantasy world daydreams, namely, first, a dream of the continuation and completion of the ethnic cleansing of Gaza and then a warped view of how power stacks up in the world today. Both of these daydreams are inaccurate and fabricated.

First, you ignore my statement about the lack of stability in Israel's economic, political and social systems. Would you care to challenge this statement? Please explain. Israel has suffered economically, and investment in the genocidal nation has cratered. Companies have lost many employees, all reservists in the IOF. Eliat port is closed, and the importation of goods has been affected by Ansarallah's campaign against shipping headed for the shores of the ethnic cleanser. The instability in the political situation couldn't be worse. Netanyahu needs war to retain his position in the government and keep him out of jail. How long will the people of Israel, cognizant of this fact, be willing to send their sons to die in Gaza? How long before a challenger steps up to take on Netanyahu? The social situation is similarly dire. Reservists are ignoring orders to report for duty. Educated Israelis with second passports are heading for the door, aware that Israel is currently the most dangerous place in the world to be a Jew. The population will tip more and more towards a haredi Israel, and they have completely refused to serve in the IOF. Your daydream about the completion of the ethnic cleansing is also just that: a warped dream. The Israelis have carried out the worst bombing in history against a civilian population: women, children and the elderly. The young men who were anti-war have now begun to join Hamas in droves. Who would be surprised that killing their families would turn them into angry men willing to fight and die to get revenge for their loved ones? There will be NO driving of the Palestinians, either into the Sinai or the sea. Egypt has made that absolutely clear. You're still holding onto hope that Israel can pull that off, but that only adds to the evidence of your own sickness and inhumanity.

Now, let's have a look at your statement about power in the world today.

“And by the way, aside from a very small number of countries, e.g. Russia, China, maybe a few others like Brazil and India, none of whom have or would ever do anything tangible to help the Palestinians, where else matters? — people like you need to understand where power in this world lies.”

You forgot a few countries in your list: Iran, Indonesia, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Algeria.

Now when we add those countries to your “very small number of countries”, a list by the way that has a population of 2.5 billion WITHOUT the countries that I have added, we see that they represent a great deal of the power in this world, and they are growing in power while the west shrinks. Consider the fact that Russia by itself produces more artillery shells than the US and all NATO countries combined. Compare the manufacturing power of China with that of the US and all NATO countries combined. That's a lot of power. The balance of power in this world is shifting, and the shift is moving AWAY from a US hegemony.

So, in conclusion, your warped dreams are not reality. The world and the power of the west, waning in the light of the cultural degradation brought about by you and your people, will soon be a thing of the past. The US will take its rightful place as a power among other great powers.

And you, evil Jew, should just go and die. Do us all a favor.

I see. Well, I have some bad news for you. Trump isn't stupid. He is NOT going to partner with a genocidal bastard who has an arrest warrant on his head in most of the world and a political career on its last legs at home. Trump is NOT going to join in the ethnic cleansing of the two million Palestinians in Gaza, especially as the completely misguided actions of Israel has put the region in the spotlight and the rest of the world is watching. I know, for you and Jews like you, the opinions of "the nations" or the "goyim" is nothing more than the lowing of cattle, but you seem to forget the lessons your own Talmudic rabbis have tried to teach you. Darchei Shalom, didn't you learn about the "ways (road) of peace". If you did, you realize that this was really meant as a way to avoid reprisals for the nefarious actions of Jews in gentile societies. Don't believe the bullshite in the Jewish Chronicle about Jews allowing the goy poor to join the Jewish poor to eat from their fields. No, the purpose is to avoid hate and punishment from the goyim. Well, the goyim have been watching you evil bastards kill the women and children of Gaza with impunity, and a huge part of the world population, especially from the global south, now hate Israel and want to punish it. Trump knows that the actions of the US government in past decades has led to much of the world changing its view of the US, once seen as a benevolent, fair player in world affairs. He also knows that the change was driven by the foreign policies driven by mostly Jewish neocons, so eloquently expressed by our host Ron Unz in his videos on Thinkers Forum. I believe that Trump will have to go after this power structure if he wants to MAGA. He and other America First Americans will come to the conclusion that putting America first MUST entail throwing Israel under the bus.

Gaza being geographically small or significantly urban or population dense doesn't mean it is or has to be a "concentration camp".

Hong Kong was a literal colony and yet it prospered under British rule. Singapore and Monaco are two other examples of very small states with sea access that are prosperous.

Gaza could be that if it chose to (well given the low IQ of the locals compared to whites or Chinese, not THAT prosperous, but at least much better off), but living in peace with its neighbor is an obvious pre requisite. What the eff is Israel supposed to do, ignore Hamas importing weapons and then periodically staging unprovoked attacks on Isreal?

You go on with this "mow the grass" talk, but even if the entirety of the Israeli government and military wanted to periodically kill Gaza Arabs like that, all the more reason for Hamas to behave and stop attacking Israel! Then Israel has no excuse, no rationale, for bombing / shelling / sending in ground forces etc.

Israel wasn't attacking Gaza on Oct. 6. That whole sector had been quiet for a long time. On the Israeli side, it was because Israel wanted peace and quiet there, and on the Hamas side, because Hamas knew damn well that this was Israel's attitude and took advantage of it to build up unmolested for the massive attack Hamas was planning. Hamas KNOWS that Israel just wants to leave Gaza the hell alone, but Hamas attacks Israel over and over anyway, to politically exploit the resulting Arab deaths from Israel's response.

Even if what you read into Netanyahu's remarks on Oct. 28, 2023 were true, this headline is about what Netanyahu (or more accurately, his aides) said on Jan. 14 and 15, 2025, according to Haaretz on Jan 15. And in those remarks, no one mentioned Amalek. That story was not pro-Bibi, and presented his government as plotting to resume war and framed that as a bad thing, but there is nothing in there that can remotely be read as genocide.

Nothing in that Haaretz story, nothing Bibi said in that timeframe either personally or indirectly via his staff, actually vowed genocide, not even through hints or dog whistles or inflammatory references to massacred biblical enemies.

So directly claiming that he did is a lie. It doesn't matter whether you think that any Israeli military action in Gaza is inherently "genocidal" – the attention-getting nature of that headline is a direct claim that Netanyahu literally and directly vowed genocide.

And that's a lie.

There might be at least microbial life in underground springs, or lichen-like life inside the rocks on the surface, etc. Which would be amazing and answer the most important question in science: “are we alone?” In any case, from a practical standpoint, the most interesting aspect when it comes to life on Mars is its potential, not its present.

Mars has a 24 hour day/night cycle (in an amazing unnecessary coincidence), plus abundant CO₂ and water, making it a suitable place for greenhouses growing plants. Unlike the Moon, it has in abundance all the elements needed to set up and sustain human settlement and civilization.

As for the oxygen, the “Mars Direct” plan calls for bringing a small amount of hydrogen to Mars, and then using that to react with the CO₂ atmosphere to create methane and oxygen for the explorers and settlers. Methane (or its simple to make derivative, methanol) would be used as fuel for various purposes, including powering local exploration vehicles, as well as rocket fuel for the return journey.

You would only need to wear a space suit when you are outside your vehicle or the buildings you live and work in. Those places would be pressurized with a breathable atmosphere etc.

I hear you that you have no interest in going there, but that’s usually the way. It’s only a minority of people who want to be explorers and pioneers, opening up, settling, and developing new lands. But they’re the ones who drive humanity forward.

In the long run, it’s absolutely possible to terraform Mars, and to create, first, a shirt sleeve atmosphere in which no pressure suit is needed, liquid water can flow, and plants and grow, with people only needing to wear oxygen masks with a tank on their backs. And then later, a breathable atmosphere as well.

They only proved that a gang of snarly, scheming whiners are incapable of ruling themselves or anyone else, and that hubris and brutality are poor substitutes for wisdom.

Of this I completely agree, thanks.

Israel versus Hamas is a terrible misrepresentation of reality since the Jews' goal was genocide, not war against Hamas. They avoided direct battle with Hamas whenever possible.

| Meet the new boss same as the old boss.

From that first press conference by Trump your statement is very true in regards to the support of the Zionist Entity.

But Trump is a wild card and he did share Jeffrey Sachs' critical talk about Izrael and especially his calling Nethanyahu an low life SOB. He also forced Yahoo to take the deal, which the SOB didn't want to do. So let's see what happens.

BTW, he's getting erroneous info on, not only the Zionist genocidal war, but also on Russia-Ukraine. He said that 1 Million Russians have died when only a fraction of that number is close to the truth.

Doesn't seem like what I saw with what Trump just said "It's not our war" and then he went on to talk as though he didn't give a flying fuck about what was happening over there and was sounding like a real estate agent. There are a lot of negative comments on that video too. Plus if it wasn't our war, why are we sending them ammunition, and bombs to kill with? I'll quote what someone on twitter said on that video to Trump "IT IS YOUR WAR YOU STUPID FUCKING DUMBASS!"

Give the man a few days. You act as if an off the cuff comment in response to a reporter's question is policy. Yes, I saw the clip, and NOTHING in Trump's comments signified a strong pro-genocide, pro-ethnic cleansing agenda. He was mistaken to say that it wasn't our war, because as you say, the US has sent Israel endless weaponry and bombs to kill innocent civilians. The recent pressure on Netanyahu and his unhinged settler coalition to agree to a ceasefire has got them sweating, though, you have to admit that. Let's see how it plays out. He very well could use continued military support as a negotiation tactic to move things towards peace.

Let's hope that Bannon has some insight into Trump's mindset and agenda moving forward. I am not irrationally exuberant, but I still hold out some hope:

"The days of thunder begin on Monday," he said, and the world will not be the same again. Bannon wasn't talking about Trump going on the offensive against the Chinese, Iranians or the Russians. Trump and his team are preparing to take on the "they."

"They," in Bannon's words, are the people who control the world's most powerful empire and, elections or no elections, democracy or no democracy, they will not voluntarily relinquish their privileges and the control over their empire: there will be a fight.

The people Bannon is talking about, the establishment that Trump has promised to go after, are blind supporters of Israel. Many if not most of them are Jews. Trump's agenda is going to reach a point where he will have to make a decision on support for Israel. His strong emphasis on the importance of loyalty to MAGA as a requisite to strong support from the Trump administration could spell a change in the US's decades-long blind support for the apartheid, genocidal state.

I would like to make one additional point:

Just by saying “It’s not our war.”, Trump has perpetrated a massive pivot in US foreign policy, sending a strong message to Israel. Think about it. The Biden Administration, in words and deeds, did EVERYTHING to help Israel carry out its regional war, against Hamas as well as Hezbollah and the Houthis. In addition, the Biden Administration ordered the US military to intercept drones and missiles when Iran made its two attacks on Israel, April 13,14 and October 1.

Just the solitary act of proclaiming: “It’s not our war.”, Trump has gone against the establishment, both Republican and Democratic, as well as all the media, academia, and government agencies. He is signaling a new direction, a break with the past. Think about it, what Congresspeople, in either the Senate or the House, will publicly back this statement by Trump? Massie and Rand Paul and a handful of Democratic House members. Remember Massie’s statement about the AIPAC minders that ALL Republican House and Senate reps have? Trump just broke their hearts, sending a strong message that we have no responsibility for protecting Israel.

How could we read this any other way?

Dream on, loser.

You seem to have forgotten that Trump's son-in-law (currently maintaining a low profile), favorite daughter and his grandchildren by them are Jews?

Did you miss his EO removing sanctions on Jewish settlers imposed by Biden?

Once Gaza is cleared out of Palestinians, cleaned up and rebuilt, it will be a great location for a "Trump" hotel or two and a LIMITED permanent population with mostly tourists passing through.

Terra-forming other planets is a complex process presently far beyond our capabilities. Two issues rarely discussed are the low gravity of Mars and the lack of a magnetic field. Here's some detail from the Perplexity AI.

Building an Earth-quality atmosphere on Mars and maintaining it long-term would be extremely challenging due to Mars' lower gravity and lack of a strong magnetic field.

Mars' gravity is about 38% of Earth's[5], which significantly impacts its ability to retain atmospheric gases. While Mars can hold onto heavier gases like carbon dioxide, it struggles to retain lighter gases such as water vapor and oxygen[6]. This means that even if an Earth-like atmosphere were created, it would gradually escape to space over time.

The lack of a strong magnetic field on Mars further complicates the issue. Earth's magnetic field helps protect its atmosphere from solar wind erosion, but Mars lost its global magnetic field billions of years ago[2]. As a result, solar radiation and wind have been stripping away Mars' atmosphere over time, contributing to its current thin state[2][3].

Creating an Earth-like atmosphere on Mars would require:

1. Increasing atmospheric pressure significantly (from current 0.6% of Earth's to at least 25%)[8]
2. Adding massive amounts of gases (approximately 10^{15} tons)[8]
3. Addressing the lack of magnetic field protection

While it might be theoretically possible to create a temporary Earth-like atmosphere, maintaining it would be extremely difficult. The atmosphere would likely escape over hundreds of thousands to millions of years[6], making long-term terraforming challenging without continuous replenishment or advanced technological solutions to address Mars' fundamental planetary characteristics.

“Israel wasn’t attacking Gaza on Oct. 6. That whole sector had been quiet for a long time. On the Israeli side, it was because Israel wanted peace and quiet there, and on the Hamas side, because Hamas knew damn well that this was Israel’s attitude and took advantage of it to build up unmolested for the massive attack Hamas was planning. Hamas KNOWS that Israel just wants to leave Gaza the hell alone, but Hamas attacks Israel over and over anyway, to politically exploit the resulting Arab deaths from Israel’s response. ”

Proving Hamas doesn’t give a crap about its Palestinian citizens, ALL Palestinians are now forbidden to work in Israel. Many were making 3x-4x what they could make in Gaza or the West Bank. They have lost these opportunities and instead, Israel is turning to South Asian nations such as India for bodies to do grunt work.

Gaza cannot be “left the hell alone”. It is a land of little water or natural resources, not really capable of supporting more than perhaps a couple hundred thousand and certainly not 2.5 million and prior to Oct7, 2023, steadily increasing.

The only way they were able to survive was through the charity of Israel and the so called “humanitarian aid” of the UNRWA, which is now illegal and cannot operate in Israel or the Palestinian territories.

The Palestinians cannot be allowed to go back on the “dole” and I don’t believe that Trump would support this, unlike bleeding hearts Biden & Blinken.

Lastly, with little discipline when it comes to birth control, the Gazan population would continue to increase exponentially, feeding on the free aid from the UN but with no land to expand into. Israel certainly isn’t going to give up land for their population explosion. Therefore, war would again be inevitable as the Gazan Palestinians would have to fight to take more land from Israel. The lack of land to grow into is yet one more reason why Gaza can never become the Palestinian sate.

I never get why people pooh-pooh the idea of terraforming Mars based on the notion that after successfully doing that, and taking zero further action, that atmosphere would no longer last after millions of years. OK, so??? That's a wildly long timeframe and faraway problem even if it's insoluble, and obviously it would be a lot easier to maintain and upkeep that atmosphere once it's started, than it had been to set it up in the first place.

Not a valid reason to not start. We should do it. We should make Mars bloom and give humanity a second homeworld.

I was right to call you an idiot — you're an infantile, hysterical idiot.

>who refuses to engage with the argument

I excerpted a very short piece of text from your comment, and responded to that — nothing else — and I did 'engage' with that text: I explained to you why Israel had not 'lost in the WESTERN media' — I listed the factors.

I accepted your premise that Israel has 'lost' everywhere else; I had nothing to say about that, except that it doesn't matter much, practically — I deliberately did not address any other 'argument' of yours — understand?

Why would you tell me how many shells Russia can produce, when it's clear Russia will never do anything militarily to oppose Israel or help the Palestinians? — Russia did not fight to save its ally Assad in Syria — nor will China ever get directly involved — nor will any of the other countries you list, with the exception of Iran, a country that's no match for Israel strategically (there will never be a ground war with Iran), and whose 'help' so far has not been worth much.

I'm not a Jew.
